

German Shepherd Dog

I stood beside you, strong and still,
your shadow, day and night,
With watchful eyes and steady soul,
your shield, your quiet knight.
I carried duty in my bones and love within my gaze-
You were my world, my human home, through all our faithful days.

Now I guard a gate of stars where only good dogs go, Where fields roll wide with purpose and the moon hangs soft and low.
Don't fear the dark-I'm not that far,
just past the silver ridge,
One day I'll hear your voice again and meet you at the bridge.
